

Hello, I cannot stress enough how terrible my experience was. From the moment I walked in, the service was horrendous. We waited 30 minutes just to be acknowledged, and another 45 minutes for food that was barely edible.

The staff seemed completely uninterested in serving us. Our server was rude and acted like we were inconveniencing them just by being there. When the food finally arrived, it was cold, tasteless, and poorly presented. My dish was overcooked, while my friend's was undercooked—it's almost impressive how they managed to mess up on both ends of the spectrum.

The atmosphere didn't help either. The music was blaring, making it impossible to have a conversation, and the place was dirty—crumbs on the tables, sticky floors, and a bathroom that looked like it hadn't been cleaned in weeks.

To top it all off, they had the audacity to charge us an 18% service fee without any explanation or justification. I walked out feeling completely ripped off.

Save yourself the disappointment and avoid this place at all costs. You're better off eating a frozen meal at home—it would be cheaper, faster, and a lot more enjoyable
